of organic agriculture in Uganda

Place: Uganda Martyrs University, Nkozi, 82 km south of Kampala

Duration: 2nd to 16th July 2004

Last day of application: 15th April 2004

EPOPA

EPOPA (Export Promotion of Organic Products from Africa) is funded by Sida and the goal is to increase income through exports of organic products. In order to build local capacity a training course is one of the activities executed within EPOPA.

The training is implemented by Grolink AB a Swedish based consultant company with expertise in organic agriculture.

Target group

The target group consists of key persons who are seriously interested in developing organic projects or programmes, supporting structures (i.e. extension service, organic sector body etc.) or policies in the country.

The training is only open for residents from Uganda.

Costs

The training fee is 30 000 USH per participant. That includes training material, accommodation and food. Each participant cover their own insurance.

Content

The training will consist of lectures, study visits, group work and individual work in

- Organic Agriculture production
- Framework of organic agriculture
- Markets for organic products
- Standards Certification and regulation
- How to set up an organic project

During the training the participants will work with a plan for an organic project. The participants are expected to implement the plan after the training.

Individual follow up for all participants will be done after the training.
